

Scott Dyreng obtained his PhD in Accounting from the University of North Carolina in May 2008. His research examines the influence of corporate tax laws on financial reporting, firm performance, firm structure, and firm value. His research has also examined the effect of corporate tax laws on debt markets. His work has been published in The Accounting Review and the Journal of Accounting Research. His teaching interests are in managerial accounting and taxation. He was awarded the Teaching in Excellence Award for the 2009/2010 MMS program in the Fuqua School of Business.